EVERYBODY LIKES GOOD PIE

There is no longer any excuse for poor pies on your table, as you should follow the lead of thousands and use D-Zerta Quick Pudding as a filling for pies. Try this recipe:

D-Zerta Chocolate Cream Pie.
Prepare a package of D-Zerta Chocolate Pudding according to directions on package, adding one-half cup of sugar. Put in crust which has been baked. Cover with meringue made with the whites of two eggs. This makes two large pies or three small ones.
All the five flavors—Lemon, Vanilla, Orange, Raspberry, and Strawberry—can be used in the same way, and by using, etc., added as desired. D-Zerta Quick Pudding is also used as a cake filling, and for a pudding dessert. Simply add a quart of milk to contents of one package, bring to a boil, cool and serve with cream or a sugar. Order from your grocer. See per package.

The Colonial Stock Company.
No effort has been spared in making the Colonial Stock Company one of the best on the road, and when this company comes to the opera house for a week's engagement beginning Monday, March 5, it will take only a short time for the people to realize the superlative qualities of this excellent organization. The company is headed by the young and talented actor Rollo Llyod who has a very fine record as a leading man. Mr. Llyod is supported by an exceptionally fine company, all the members of which have had long and excellent experience in the dramatic profession. Some of the latest best plays will be presented during the engagement, and they will all be presented with new and beautiful scenery and effects.
In conjunction with the regular performance, a vaudeville contingency that is surpassed by none will be presented; acts that have earned their way to the head of vaudeville acts. These acts will all be presented with new and beautiful scenery and effects.

This is to notify all that Wm. Welch of the firm of Welch & Page will pay all bills of the firm and collect all bills owed to the firm. Dated March 3, 1906.

Why not take the Easy Road?

Why not save yourself the drudgery of the old way?
Why not get through your washing before nine o'clock?
Why not have your clothes look cleaner and brighter than the old way makes them?
Why not save the wear and tear of the clothes which rubbing causes?
Why not have all the stains removed from your clothes and have them a uniform color?
Why not discard all the old washing powders and use a nice clean crystal?

SAVES THE RUB

which is the name by which Polk's Troy Laundry Washing Crystals are known, will do all this and more. It lightens the burdens of the housewife. It will not only make your clothes look better than they ever looked by washing them the old way, but will do it in one-quarter the time and enable you to enjoy practically the whole of washday.

SAVES THE RUB is also unequalled for cleaning all kinds of wood-work, washing dishes, cleaning pots and kettles and sinks, floors, closets, etc. It is

"The Cleaner that made Troy Laundries Famous."

That's why it is so good. Do as the big fellows in the laundry business do, use SAVES THE RUB.

A New Way to Deal With Drunkards.
Judge Wm. Jeff Pollard of the Second district police court has a "lid" all of his own. He doesn't put the "lid" on saloons, but on individuals. For some time Judge Pollard has been requiring certain classes of people, especially those who fail to provide for their families, or abuse their wives, to sign an ironclad temperance pledge.

A good example is found in John Rothmeyer, a teamster of 1223 North Sixth street, who was on the police court carpet for getting drunk and frightening the wife out of his wife by his threatening conduct. The three little Rothmeyers, ranging in age from two to eight years, took refuge under the bed to escape the wrath of their father. Rothmeyer was penitent when he sobered up, but he found a charge of disturbing the peace lodged against him, and saw the work house staring him in the face.

Mrs. Rothmeyer was in delicate health and if the father had been sent to the work house for a month there would have been no one to provide for the family. Judge Pollard called the offending teamster to the bar of justice and had a heart-to-heart talk with him. Rothmeyer admitted his wrong-doing. He wanted to quit drinking.

"Well, I'll give you an opportunity," said the judge, producing one of his printed slips. "You just sign this temperance pledge for a year."

"Now, what you want to do is to keep away from drink for the first month," said Judge Pollard. "I am going to impose a fine of $25 on you, which I will stay on good behavior. But I want to know that you keep your pledge. I live at 3634 Finney avenue. Now, on the night of Oct. 17 and 23 you must report to me at my house. Bring your wife with you. Come at night so you won't have to lose any time from work, because your family needs all the money you can earn. Then report to this court on Oct. 30 and if you have kept the pledge I will stay the fine, but remember that any time during the year that you are found drinking I will put the execution in force and send you to the work house."

Rothmeyer thanked Judge Pollard for the opportunity of keeping sober. "Remember, now, you've got to keep sober," said the court, warningly. "The law compels you to. I want to hear that you have made a better man of yourself and that you are providing for your wife and children as a husband and father should."

With that Rothmeyer left the court room with his wife who carried her youngest child in her arms.

"As long as the germ of good is not dead I believe it is the duty of the court to save such men for themselves and for their families," said Judge Pollard. "I would rather make my court a tribunal of reformation rather than a place of punishment. I want to do the best for the defendant and the best for the city. Of course it would do no good to make a confirmed drunkard take the pledge. The work house is the only place for him. But I have been requiring men to sign the pledge for two and one-half years, and less than one per cent of those taking it have broken it. If I had sent this poor teamster to the work house what would have become of his family? It is better to make him keep sober and provide for them than to send him to the work house and turn them out to starve. The system works splendidly."

Judge Pollard requires several men to sign this pledge every week. His reports show that very few persons have broken it, and most of those who have taken it have completely reformed. After staying sober a year it isn't a hard matter to make temperance permanent. Judge Pollard paid the rent for one woman whose husband he was compelled to send to the work house for drunkenness, and he and Police Captain Pickett jointly paid the rent for another.

The second district court is the only tribunal in America which requires defendants to sign a temperance pledge. The innovation has worked admirably. There are 75 or 100 men in the city now who dare not get drunk under pain of being sent to the work house.—St. Louis Star-Chronicle.

EAST BARRE.

The Ladies' Aid of the Congregational church has made careful plans to serve their usual good inner tomorrow, town meeting day, in the Old Fellows hall. The old patrons are expected and many new ones also.

The regular meeting of the N. E. O. P. will be held this evening at 7 o'clock. Members will try to be on time.

The regular meeting of Silver Leaf circle of Lady Foresters will be held in their hall on Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock.

A very interesting missionary service has been planned for next Sunday evening, entitled, "The Light of the World." The costumes, the recitations and the songs will not only be entertaining but instructive also.

Torture by Savages.
"Speaking of the torture to which some of the savage tribes in the Philippines subject their captives, reminds me of the intense suffering I endured for three months from inflammation of the kidneys," said W. M. Sherman of Cushing, Me. "Nothing helped me until I tried Electric Bitters, three bottles of which completely cured me." Cures liver complaint, dyspepsia, blood disorders and malaria, and restores the weak and nervous to robust health. Guaranteed at the Red Cross Pharmacy. Price 50c.

CHELSEA.

Charles D. Broadway, who has been visiting his brother in Claremont, N. H., returned to his home here Thursday evening.

Prof. J. M. Comstock is conducting a teacher's examination at the academy.

Dr. E. J. Fish of South Royalton was called in counsel with Dr. A. T. Marshall Thursday night to see Miss Mamie Titus of Vershire, who is critically ill with measles and pneumonia at the home of Mrs. May L. Dickinson.

Mr. A. W. Woodworth of Enosburg Falls, who has been a guest of his brother, John A. Woodworth, has returned to his home.

Frank Kenerson, who was called several weeks ago to the northern part of the state by the serious illness of his father, which terminated fatally, returned Thursday evening.

George Martin and brother of Bradford were in town on business Friday.

Willis Seales is acting as clerk at the Orange County Hotel, temporarily.

The Locust.

The song of the locust is louder when bad weather is imminent than at other times. In the rural districts this sign is regarded as exceedingly favorable for a change of weather for the worse.

Human Hair Stockings.
When a child's hair is shaved in northern China the hair is preserved in a special hair-box of lacquer. As soon as the box is full enough the hair is taken from it and a pair of stockings woven. Such stockings have almost religious value, and they are rarely parted with.

Tree Barometers.
The fall of dead branches from a tree is an excellent sign of an approaching storm. The dead wood, much decayed, absorbs moisture and loses its tenacity, thus causing the branch to fall.

To succeed these days you must have plenty of grit, courage, strength. How is it with the children? Are they thin, pale, delicate? Do not forget Ayer's Sarsaparilla. You know it makes the blood pure and rich, and builds up the general health. Sold for sixty years.

An Election Contribution.

Men, one and all, attention, please. While I state to you a woman's view Upon a question, let me say, You are going to settle on election day.

Of course it's license, yes or no, But what does a woman know, you say, Which is best or what? Men should vote on election day.

I'll try to tell you, as best I can, How I would vote if I were a man. No, of course, is the only way; We want no license, on election day.

Some say no-license means low dives Where the drunks are hidden from our eyes. Vote no, keep away from the dives, and I didn't help to make them on election day.

OFFERS NO REWARD.
Why Socialism is Not Wanted by American People.

The Coopers' International Journal, the official organ of the Coopers' International union, whose editor is James A. Cable, says editorially in a recent issue:

"Why will Socialism not come? The difference between Socialism and the present form of government is the difference between theory and practice. It will not come because it is a theory and not a practice. A great many theories are as impossible that they fail before they are tested, and Socialism is one of them. The present form of government, although it has its faults, is a reality, and, having its faults like other human institutions, there is always hope of remedying them. The American people want a system which offers reward for and opens opportunity to energy, thrift and talent. Whatever claim may be made by the Socialists, their theory when analyzed offers nothing of the kind. It is calculated only to discourage the possessors of these sterling qualities."

"If the time, money and energy spent in advocacy of this will-o'-the-wisp were devoted to the cause of trades unionism, which is striving every day in the year for actual reforms and improvements in our day and generation, the defects in government could be overcome and there would be less oppression and more comforts for those who earn their bread in the sweat of their brows here and now."
